Religion and Political Neutrality

At our senior center, we strive to create an inclusive and welcoming environment for all members, regardless of their religious or political beliefs. To ensure that everyone feels respected and comfortable, we have implemented a religion and political neutrality policy. The policy can be summarized as follows:

Respect for Individual Beliefs: We respect the diversity of religious and political beliefs held by our members.

Neutrality in Programming: Our senior center will remain neutral when it comes to religious and political programming. Non-Solicitation: Members are prohibited from soliciting or promoting religious or political activities within the senior center premises.

Personal Discussions: While we encourage open dialogue and camaraderie among members, personal discussions on religious or political topics should be conducted with respect.

Display of Symbols: Members are welcome to wear religious or political symbols or attire as a personal expression of their beliefs. However, it is crucial to ensure that such displays do not infringe upon the rights or beliefs of others or create an unwelcome or hostile environment.

Complaint Resolution: If any member feels that the religion and political neutrality policy has been violated, they are encouraged to report their concerns to the senior center administration. All complaints will be handled promptly and discreetly, with appropriate measures taken to address any issues and maintain a harmonious environment.

Service Animals

Service animals are allowed on Milford Senior Center vehicles and throughout the Center with its handler/owner.

Connecticut law requires public accommodations to permit people who are blind, deaf, or mobility impaired to use service dogs to help them. The ADA has similar provisions but covers a wider range of disabilities, including mental and psychiatric disabilities. Connecticut law does not require a person using a service dog to prove that the dog is being used to help with disabilities in order to be afforded the protections allowed to people using service dogs.

The ADA likewise does not require such proof and limits the types of questions that people working in the private and public facilities it covers, can ask about the dog or its owner. Under the ADA regulations, staff at facilities subject to the ADA can ask only two questions: (1) is the dog a service animal required because of a disability and (2) what work or task has the dog been trained to perform? Staff cannot ask about the person's disability, require medical documentation, or ask that the dog demonstrate its ability to perform the work or task. Nor can they require documentation, such as proof that the dog has been certified, trained, or licensed as a service dog. For more information, please see this link <http://www.jud.ct.gov/lawlib/Law/serviceanimals.htm>

The ADA and Connecticut law prohibit public accommodations from charging a special admission fee or requiring you to pay any other extra cost to have your service animal with you. However, you may have to pay for any damage your animal causes.

The ADA allows a public accommodation to exclude your service animal if it poses a direct threat to health and safety (for example, if your dog is aggressively barking and snapping at other customers, the facility can force you to remove the dog). Your animal may also be excluded if it is not housebroken, or if it is out of control and you are unable or unwilling to effectively control it. You are still entitled to enter the public accommodation even if your service animal is not allowed in.

Suggestion Box and Compliment Cards

The Milford Senior Center management team values members' suggestions. A suggestion box is located on the hallway wall on the right-hand side between the dining room and the auditorium. There, members are able to complete a suggestion note anonymously or by providing their contact information if they wish. The suggestion box is checked regularly.

Want to compliment a staff, volunteer or instructor? Compliment cards are readily available at different locations throughout the Center and with the front desk staff. Complete the card with the complimented person's name, what they are being complimented on and your name. Leave the completed compliment card at the front desk.
